Super Class 3 – Sarcodina
1) Body mostly amoeboid without definite pellicle.
2) Locomotion by pseudopodia.
3) Nutrition holozoic or saprozoic.
Superclass Sarcodina is divided into two classes:
1) Class Rhizopodia Pseudopodia as lobopodia, filopodia or reticulopodia without axial filament. It includes three sub classes:
1) Lobosia
2) Filosia
3) Granuloreticulosa
Sub Class 1) Lobosia Pseudopodia as lobopodia.
Sub Class Lobosia has single order Amoebida .
Order Amoebida Body Amoeboid, naked without skeleton e.g. Amoeba .
Sub Class 2) Filosia Pseudopodia as filopodia. Naked or with a shell with a single aperture e.g. Penardia Sub Class 3) Granuloreticulosa Pseudopodia delicate granular reticulopodia. It has single order Foraminiferida.
Order Foraminiferida Large sized with uni or multichambered calcareous shell with one or more openings through which reticulopodia emerge e.g. Elphidium
2) Class Actinopodia Pseudopodia mainly axopodia with axial filaments, radiating from a spherical body. It includes four sub classes:
Sub Class 1) Heliozoia Spherical protozoans called sunanimalcules, e.g. Actinophrys .
Sub Class 2) Radiolaria Body naked or with perforated chitinous central capsule separating ectoplasm from endoplasm, e.g. Thalassiozola .
Sub Class 3) Acantharia Imperforated non chitinous central capsule without pores, e.g. Acanthometra .
Sub Class 4) Protozoxyidia Pseudopodia are filopodia. Mostly parasites on algae e.g. Pseudospora
SUBPHYLUM 2 - SPOROZOA
Locomotory organelles absent. Spores usually present. Exclusively endoparasites. It includes three classes:
Class 1 Telospora: Spores without polar capsules and filaments. It includes two subclasses: Gregarina and Coccidia.

EMPOWERMENT OF WOMEN-NEED FOR A PARADIGM SHIFT TO BRING IN SOCIAL CHANGE

* Dr. Anjali Dewan

Abstract

Gender injustice taking the shape of crimes against women has increased all over the world and India is no exception to this. Women continue to suffer from increasing tide of violence both inside and outside homes. Domestic violence is an ongoing experience of physical, emotional and/or sexual abuse faced by women within the household. It has a debilitating effect on women's physical as well as psychological health. It occurs within all age ranges, ethnic backgrounds, and economic levels. Noticing or acknowledging the warning signs and symptoms of domestic violence and abuse is the first step towards ending it. In a situation of domestic violence, a woman needs protection even before the crime committed as she apprehends the danger to her life from the assaulter on whom she is dependent on the threat is constant. There is a need to sensitize people especially women themselves to understand that domestic violence should be condemned at all levels. Our country today is at the cusp of a paradigm change in its growth and position in the world. Empowerment of women has multiple, inter-related and interdependent dimensions in relation to resources, perceptions and power to take their own decision. Educational attainment and economic participation are the key components in ensuring that empowerment which enhances their ability to influence changes and to create a better society.

Key words: Domestic violence, interventions, sensitization, awareness, counseling, strategic empowerment

INTRODUCTION

Violence affects the lives of millions of women worldwide, in all socio-economic and educational classes. It cuts across cultural and religious barriers, impeding the right of women to participate fully in society. Violence against women takes a dismaying variety of forms, from domestic abuse and rape to child marriages and female circumcision. All are violations of the most fundamental human rights. Domestic violence is an ongoing experience of physical, emotional and/or sexual abuse faced by the women within the household. The abuser could be husband/and or other members from natal or marital families. It is not specific to any culture or community. It cuts across the boundaries of class, caste, religion, race and education. As we advance into 21st century, the home becomes more of an unsafe place for a woman than it ever was. She is more likely to face violence and resulting injury by men of her family than others. It is all the more paradoxical that while world attention and focus is on improving the status of women through better health, education and employment facilities, the woman is becoming threatened in her very home.

ESTIMATION OF THE PROBLEM

In a statement to the Fourth World Conference of Women in Beijing in September 1995, the United Nations Secretary-General, Boutros Boutros-Ghali said that violence against women is a universal problem that must be universally condemned. But he said that the problem continues to grow. The Secretary-General noted that domestic violence also is on the increase. Studies in 10 countries, he said, have found that between 17 per cent and 38 per cent of women have suffered physical assaults by a partner. Domestic Violence has reached epidemic proportions in India. Even psychiatrists indicate that significant number of patients with psychological disorders have
