7. DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE EVENT	From 15th to 20th February 2021, Physics department of St. Bede's College Shimla conducted a six-day online workshop called 'Spreadsheets: A Tool for Developing Mathematical & Computational Skills in UG students'. The workshop was facilitated by three resource persons: Prof. P.K. Ahluwalia, retired Professor of Physics from Himachal Pradesh University, Dr. Sarmistha Saha, retired Associate Professor from the Department of Physics at Maharani Lakshmi Ammanni College for Women, Bangalore, and Dr. Sapna Sharma, Associate Professor from the Department of Physics at St. Bede's College Shimla. The workshop was organised as a structured class with exposure to problems drawn from physics, chemistry and mathematics in the form of assignments, quizzes and discussion board. Students were also sensitized towards visualisation of scientific data, computing complex problems by developing a schemata for implementing it on spreadsheets. Day1: On the first day of the workshop, the keynote speaker, Prof. P.K. Ahluwalia, delivered talk entitled "Developing Mathematical and Computational Thinking of Science Students as per the New Education Policy." Prof. Ahluwalia began by discussing the importance of mathematical and computational thinking in the current education landscape. He highlighted how these skills are essential for students pursuing science subjects, as they form the backbone of many scientific disciplines. He also emphasized that with the recent changes in education policy, it is crucial to re-examine the ways in which we teach these skills to students. He then proceeded to outline some key strategies for developing mathematical and computational thinking in science students. He stressed the need to integrate these skills into the curriculum, rather than treating them as separate subjects. He also discussed the importance of creating an environment that fosters curiosity and encourages students to ask questions, experiment and explore. Then he shifted his talk on the topic Spreadsheet: Overview of a Killer Application.

He highlighted how spreadsheets is a fundamental tool in today's workplace, with applications ranging from budgeting and financial analysis to project management and data analysis and have evolved into sophisticated software packages that can handle complex calculations, data manipulation, and visualizations such as charts and graphs, which can be used to present data in a meaningful way.

Day 2:

On the second day of the workshop, Prof. P.K. Ahluwalia delivered a talk titled "Beyond a Simple Worksheet: Macros, User-Defined Functions, and Subroutines". He highlighted the various powerful tools available in Microsoft Excel that can help automate and streamline workflows beyond the basic functions of a worksheet. By using these tools, productivity can be increased, and time can be saved. During the talk, Prof. Ahluwalia demonstrated how to create a macro using the Macro Recorder tool in Excel. This tool records the actions performed and generates a Visual Basic for Applications (VBA) code that can be replayed later. The code can also be edited to customize the macro to suit specific needs. Additionally, he explained the process of creating a Subroutine by writing VBA code. This enables users to create more complex and customized functions to perform specific tasks.

"An Undergraduate Computational Physics Course: Implementation Using Spreadsheets".

Day3:

Dr. Sapna Sharma discussed the implementation of an undergraduate computational physics course using spreadsheets. She emphasized the advantages of using spreadsheets in teaching fundamental concepts of computational physics, such as ease of use, versatility, and a familiar interface. By taking a hands-on approach to learning, students can gain a better understanding of the underlying physics and the practical application of numerical methods and data analysis. The topics discussed were:

- Spreadsheet & its Features
- Data entry into a spreadsheet.

During her talk, Dr. Sharma covered a range of topics related to error analysis, including types of errors, ways of expressing errors, propagation of errors, absolute and fractional uncertainties, and combining errors in formulas. She also provided practical examples of how spreadsheets can be used to perform error analysis, such as assigning values to variables and evaluating the uncertainty of results.

Day 5

On the fifth day of the event, Dr. Sarmishtha Sahu gave a presentation on the topic "Trouble Shooter of Physics: Classical and Quantum Oscillator". During her talk, she emphasized the versatility of spreadsheets as a tool for modeling, analyzing, and visualizing Classical and Quantum Oscillator systems. By utilizing spreadsheets, researchers and professionals in the field can enhance their understanding of these systems and make more precise predictions regarding their behavior. Dr. Sahu's talk shed light on the potential of utilizing spreadsheets in Physics research and provided insights into how this tool can aid in problem-solving.

Day 6

On the sixth day of the event, Dr. Sarmishtha Sahu presented an intriguing topic titled "Hitting the Bull's Eye: Let's Calculate Pi (π) Using a Monte Carlo Approach". In her presentation, she discussed a unique and engaging method of calculating the value of Pi (π) using statistical analysis through random sampling, also known as the Monte Carlo approach. She provided step-by-step instructions on how to use random sampling to estimate the value of Pi (π) through a Monte Carlo
