CampusCare ® Software' Service Level Assistance'

Dear Sister,

Greetings!

CampusCare is 13 years old and serving about 800 + clients pan India and abroad. We acknowledge your association. We would like to take this opportunity to thank you for giving us strength and capability in delivering quality services to all our clients. The SLA renewal is due and without your support our sustained operations cannot continue.

Please read through the introduction and our terms of services for uninterrupted technical support to your institution.

SLA Introduction - Information.

Software Development has many phases. These phases include Requirements Engineering, Architecting, Design, Implementation, Testing, Software Deployment, and Maintenance. Maintenance is the last stage of the software life cycle. After the product has been released, the maintenance phase keeps the software up to date with environment changes and changing user requirements. The earlier phases should be done so that the product is easily maintainable. Similarly, the implementation phase should create code that can be easily read, understood, and changed. Maintenance can only happen efficiently if the earlier phases are done properly.

There are four major problems that can slow down the maintenance process: unstructured code, maintenance programmers having insufficient knowledge of the system, documentation being absent, out of date, or at best insufficient, and software maintenance having a bad image. The success of the maintenance phase relies on these problems being fixed earlier in the life cycle. We have done our best as per the industry standards to support our clients in future and that is the success mantra of our company. IT services are not tangible but it is purely an association with concept and knowledge.

Please note: It is said that "ERP implementation is a journey not a destination"
